

Becky McCray

INTERNATIONAL SPEAKER ON RURAL AND SMALL TOWN TOPICS

I help you shape a brighter future for your community no matter what the negative people do, giving you practical steps you can put into action right away.

My advice is based on my real-world experience as a lifelong entrepreneur and cattle rancher. I don't just talk about rural issues; I live them.

Becky McCray's down-to-earth programs on her Idea Friendly Method, rural trends, downtowns and economic development have given do-able ideas to audiences at over 270 events, both in-person and virtual. Rural and small town forums, economic development organizations, councils of government and chambers of commerce in the US, Canada, UK and Australia choose her to boost optimism, change thinking and unleash immediate action. She has presented at national conferences for the National Association of Development Organizations (NADO), International Economic Development Council (IEDC), Main Street America, the American Independent Business Alliance (AMIBA), the National Summit on Rural Entrepreneurship, a US Senate staff briefing on rural broadband and TEDxGympie: Innovation in Rural Communities in Australia.

BECKY MCCRAY'S SMALL TOWN BACKGROUND

Becky McCray is a lifelong rural entrepreneur from Northwest Oklahoma. As co-founder of SaveYour.Town, she shares insights drawn from her real-world experience as a business owner and cattle rancher. Her practical perspective is featured in her award-winning book, Small Town Rules, co-authored with Chicago entrepreneur Barry Moltz. Her common-sense views have been featured and quoted in The New York Times, Entrepreneur Magazine and many blogs, podcasts and university publications.

Becky's wide experience in small towns includes work as owner of retail stores, as administrator for a town of 990 people, as an executive with rural nonprofits and teacher of computer and business classes. In 2004, she ran for state legislature, losing by just one vote per precinct. She believes we learn from both our successes and our failures, even when those failures are printed in the local newspaper. She and her husband Joe make their home base in Hopeton, Oklahoma, population 30. Her goal is to deliver practical steps you can put into action right away to shape the future of your community.
